Slight Hope For July Underpass Bid Call

Pact Signed by Third Railroad; Aldermen To Confer Wednesday

Possibility of the Broadway underpass in Venice being included in the state highway division's July bid call was reported Friday evening by the Venice city council by Mayor John E. Lee, who said a long-awaited underpass agreement between the city, state and railroad was received that day.

A special council session, take action on the agreement was set for 7 p.m. this Wednesday by Mayor Lee, who said the delay was necessary to permit City Engineer Jack Tolliver, Edward Juneau of the Shepherd, Morgan & Schwaab consulting engineering firm and council members time to review the extensive material.

Signed agreements and financing approvals were required from all agencies involved in the proposed construction of the underpass and relocation of Broadway in Venice.

In addition to the city and state authorities, those whose approval was needed were the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio, Norfolk & Western and New York Central railroads, all of which have lines crossing the top of the underpass structure.

Agreements were signed before May 1 by all agencies except the New York Central. The delay caused revision of earlier plans to include the project on the state's mid-May bid letting.

In a report to the city council at the June 7 meeting, Mayor Lee said that a state highway engineer, Edward Alles, believed that bids on the underpass project could not be included in the July letting if the agreement was not received prior to June 20.

Reporting on a recent joint meeting with Madison city officials and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, which is making a two-year master plan study of the Venice-Madison area, Alderman Charles D. Hampton said some startling figures, relating to Venice, were quoted by Ted Mikseff, SWIMAPC executive director.

Hampton said the study so far has disclosed that 25% of the population of Venice is in the infant to 14-year age group, with the average age of Venice residents 27.5.

Board Appoints Chancellors For 2 Posts

Rendleman Assigned At SIU-SW; MacVicar At SIU, Carbondale

The board of trustees of Southern Illinois University named two SIU vice-presidents as chancellors of the Southern and Carbondale campuses at a meeting Friday morning at the SIU-SW campus.

Appointed chancellor of SIU's Southern campus was Dr. John S. Rendleman, vice-president of business affairs, who was his law degree at the age of 23 from the University of Illinois. Since joining the SIU staff in 1961, he also has served in the positions of legal and general counsel and assistant to SIU President Deloye W. Morris.

Dr. Robert W. MacVicar, 49-year-old SIU vice-president for the work manager at General Steel Industries, where he had been employed since 1958, was named vice-president and graduate school dean at Oklahoma State University before coming to SIU in 1966.

Both vice-presidential positions held by the two were eliminated by the SIU trustees in reorganization moves establishing the chancellorships, which are expected to provide more autonomy for the two campuses.

The changes were sought by President Morris, who remained the chief administrator for the entire SIU system—after extensive studies of SIU governance and recommendations from a faculty.

Creation of the chancellor positions was described as the first step in decentralization of the two campuses in administrative and graduate and undergraduate programs.

Dr. Rendleman, who has been instrumental in coordinating the extensive SIU construction program and its financing during the past decade, said he is "very excited" about his promotion and plans to move to this area as soon as he can locate a home.

He predicted that SIU-SW will "gain a tremendous amount of self-determination" during the next few years, adding that "the possibility for growth, particularly in graduate and professional fields, is very great."

Both MacVicar and Rendleman claim considerable credit for major advances at the university in recent years. Dr. Morris said, "Only last month the Illinois Higher Board of Education gave SIU the green light to set up a medical school campus."

SIU-SW Family Housing Contract Awarded

Contracts totaling $3,718,717 for construction of a family housing project at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus were awarded, and a contract for the Carbondale campus, amounting to $1,298,000, for construction at the SIU's two campuses during 1968-71 were approved by SIU trustees Friday at the local campus.

Consumer construction Co. of Chicago was awarded the general construction contract for the family housing project on a bid of $2,217,500. The project includes 248 two-and-three-bedroom apartments for graduate student and staff families to be built along the shore of Tower Lake on the SIU-SW campus.

Other contracts approved were: electrical, Rite Electric Co., Granite City, $64,777; plumbing, Thomas J. Fleming Co., Alton, $887,600; and heating and air-conditioning, La Vira Sheet Metal Co., Chicago, $154,840.

John S. Rendleman, newly-appointed chancellor of the Southwestern campus, acting in his capacity as SIU vice-president for business affairs, informed the board of difficulties encountered in financing the family housing project, plus an additional $1 million, scheduled for construction at an Administration and Services building on the Carbondale campus.

In the face of a revenue bond market, which has a state's legal limit of 5%, a three-way interim financing arrangement to pay for the project was proposed by Rendleman and Board Secretary Melvin C. Lockard of Mattoon and approved by the trustees.

Financing Details

The plan involves SIU selling bonds to finance the project. Rendleman said the amount of the contracts to the SIU Foundation, which in turn will pledge it to the bank, later for a $4,200,000 loan from the First National Bank of Chicago. It was explained that the new administration building at Carbondale is an Illinois Building Authority project, but the IBA required SIU to produce its own financing for the garage portion.

Dr. Rendleman said the interim arrangement will stand until either the market interest rate falls or the state legislature hikes the limit on interest which state agencies can pay

Police Captures Suspects in Area Robbery, Theft Cases

Investigations "clicked" in several Quad-City area robbery and theft cases when law enforcement officers cleared four of the reports through arrests.

Granite City police are questioning two St. Louis teenagers in whose car a large color television set in a carton was seen about 4 a.m. today.

Police first noticed the car, with the carton in the open trunk, at Niedringhaus and Cleveland blvd. last stopped at 14th street and Edwardsville road. It also was discovered in the warehouse of the Vandell Co. (old Nesco plant), where a front door had been forced open along with several inner doors.

Officers determined the TV set had been taken from the warehouse of the Vandell Co., which leases space at the Industrial Center. The set, worth several hundred dollars, is being held at the station for fingerprints.

Assistant Police Chief George Teller said today it was likely a charge would be placed against the 18-year-old St. Louisian, while juveniles authorities are to be called in for the 16-year-old youth who was driving the car.

Other offices at the center were entered including the Bob Whitney Sales & Service Co. and Eads Sales Co.

Four Boys Caught in Car

Four Granite City teens, all juveniles, are in custody at Watseka, Ill., where they were stopped Saturday afternoon in a 1956 station wagon belonging to Harry Kohn, 1708 Delmar avenue, and which was reported to have been stolen early Saturday from in front of the Kohn home.

Chief of Detectives Joseph Kastelic sr., said the local department was advised the station wagon had taken a car belonging to Hartford Loman, 1708 Cleveland blvd., and had rolled over along Rock road outside the city limits. Another auto theft attempt was made at B. Hohl, Inc., 1837 Madison avenue. The 1966 sports car was not stolen, but a tachometer was removed from it.

Local police said the boys' parents have been notified, and the teenagers.

Action Completed on 10% Income Tax Hike

The Senate passed and sent to President Johnson Friday a 10% income tax surcharge, the first federal income tax boost in 17 years.

He is expected to sign it soon, possibly enabling deductions to be increased during the 1970s.

The 10% addition to the present income tax, necessitated by rising war costs, will increase federal spending, is retroactive to April 1 for individual and Jan. 1 for corporations.

It does not apply to single persons earning $1000 or less taxable income or couples with $2000 or less.

on revenue bonds. He said the housing project will be financed by the Chicago bank at 4% interest tax free, with the stipulation that the bonds be sold at a discount, amounting to 15% to 20%, be maintained.

Chicago First National also is helping in establishing a long-term business arrangement with the university. Under the plan, the bank will make future financial transactions were made as part of the agreement, Rendleman said.

He pointed out that he and Lockard discussed financing the housing project with banks having previous business connections with SIU, adding that the institutions were unable to handle the university's request.

It was explained that "other collateral" referred to in the agreement, if required, could be in the form of mortgages on the university's buildings, such as the SIU-SW service center or apartment projects near the Carbondale campus.

MORE ABOUT SIU Board

riculum aimed at producing 50 doctors or health service specialists a year when at capacity. The recommendation was part of a statewide plan for stream-lined and stepped-up medical education based in large part on a proposal submitted to a state study commission by MacVicar.

The new Carbondale chancellor's so-called "medical school without walls" plan would cut down the schooling time for MD's from nine to seven years and would utilize clinical and university facilities throughout the state, rather than building a whole new school at one site. The MacVicar principle was the basis of the program set forth by the Higher Board.

Plan Joint Committee
At Friday's meeting, the board of trustees authorized the university president to form a joint committee of SIU representatives, hospital and clinic administrators and physicians drawn from counties affected by the proposed medical school and from the Springfield area. Primary purpose of the committee will include discussion of basic working agreements and policies prior to formal adoption by the SIU trustees of memoranda of affiliation with participating hospitals, clinics and similar facilities.

Inclusion of institutional representatives from Madison and St. Clair counties, Jackson county and Springfield was specifically recommended by Dr. MacVicar, who said that individual physicians and clinical institutions from related areas would not be excluded from participation in the preliminary studies to be made by the special Joint Board Committee.

Appointed as the trustee's delegate to the committee was Dr. Martin V. Brown, a Carbondale physician and board member.

Dr. Rendleman
A native of Anna, Ill., Dr. Rendleman has been instrumental in pushing a giant construction effort at SIU over the past ten years. Much of it through revenue bond financing near the Carbondale campus. One of his achievements was securing the first FFA loan ever approved for a university — under provision of federal urban renewal laws — to build housing for married graduate students and staff. The $4 million project is now under way. Rendleman attended the College of St. Thomas, Ia., and Iowa State University before transferring to SIU in 1946 to launch his studies of political science. He completed his bachelor's degree in 1949 at the University of Illinois and received the law degree two years later, specializing in business law.

The new SIU-SW chancellor acted as legal counsel during one of the university's most trying periods—when it was confronted with an enrollment boom and a crucial need for more state building and operating funds. When the Illinois Budgetary Commission started a probe of the state auditor's office—the "Hodge scandal"—Dr. Rendleman was selected as its special counsel.

In 1957 he was commissioned by the American Bar Association

DR. AND MRS. ROBERT MacVICAR and their children, John and Miriam Jean, are shown in their home at Carbondale, where Dr. MacVicar will assume the duties of SIU-Carbondale campus chancellor on July 1. Former vice-president for academic affairs, the educator's appointment as campus head was announced Friday.

Rendleman, holds the newest member of the family, two-week-old David Scott, with a practiced hand, surrounded by proud onlookers, Mrs. Rendleman and their other children, from left, Mary Elizabeth, Jean, Matthew and John III. tion to draft a uniform system of traffic court administration, later adopted by the American Conference of Governors. He is a member of the state legislature's Commission on Reorganization and served as special assistant attorney general to study the Illinois welfare and building bond issue in 1961.

Dr. Rendleman's appointment as vice-president for business affairs at SIU was in 1964, but he continues, as a professor, to teach undergraduate courses in government and is ranked in the unwritten "student book" as one of the most popular lecturers at Carbondale.

He is married to the former Lenora Norris of Jonesboro and the couple has five children, the youngest, David Scott, having arrived on June 9. Their other youngsters are Matthew, 16 years, Jean and John S. III.

He was appointed chancellor on his 41st birthday. Dr. MacVicar is a native of Princeton, Minn., who went to high school in Saratoga, Wyo. He received his undergraduate degree at the University of Wyoming and his master's degree in chemistry at Oklahoma State University. He began a Rhodes Scholarship for post-graduate study at Oxford but declined because of world war II.

Entering the Army as a food and nutrition expert he was discharged with the rank of major in 1945 and currently is a colonel in the Medical Corps Reserve. Before the war, he started his doctoral degree work at the University of Wisconsin as a research foundation fellow in biochemistry. He began teaching biochemistry at Oklahoma state in 1946 and was named head of the department three years later. In successive four-year jumps, he was appointed graduate school dean, then academic vice-president at OSU. Meanwhile completing his doctorate at Wisconsin in 1956.

An apostle of "innovation and trial-breaking," MacVicar has said repeatedly that SIU's future—like much of its past success—will be the result of "daring to aspire and to jump." We may make mistakes from time to time, but the potential for greatness is SIU's willingness to try new things, accept new ideas. We aren't going to achieve greatness by copying the traditional," he has stated.

Dr. MacVicar and his wife, the former Clarice Chambers of western Oklahoma, have two teenage children, Miriam Jean and John.

Peggy Schaefer, James Boswell Exchange Vows

Arrangements of daisies on the altar, lighted candles in aisle candelabra and white satin bows marking the family pews provided the setting Saturday evening for the wedding at the First United Presbyterian Church, Granite City, of Miss Peggy Anne Schaefer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Schaefer, 804 East Chain of Rocks road, Mitchell, and James Oliver Boswell, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver M. Boswell, reside at 2143 Washington avenue.

Rev. Dr. David Bruce Maxton officiated at the 7 o'clock ceremony, which was followed by a reception in the church Fellowship Hall. Mrs. William G. Schaefer presided over the guest book.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white silk organza full-length gown designed in Empire style, embellished with pearls at the scooped neckline and along the Empire waistline, the long trainal sleeves ending in points at the wrists. A pleated train attached at the back neckline was the same length as the straight sheath skirt.

Her headpiece, a cluster of pearls and flowers traced in pearls, secured her triple-tiered veil of bridal illusion. She carried a Colonial-style bouquet of daisies with long white streamers.

The honor attendant, Miss Eileen M. Schall, selected a floor-length dress of aqua summer crepe, fashioned with a coat worn over the beaded styled dress. The fitted bodice, made of a crocheted fabric, had a slightly scooped neckline.

Miss Jill C. Hadden and Mrs. Mary Ann Andre, bridesmaids, wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor. Miss Hadden's dress was yellow and Mrs. Andre's light green.

Each wore a satin bow in her hair, securing a nosegay veil in the same color as the gowns. Their flowers were bouquets of white daisies, each centered with a few daisies in a color matching the gowns.

Joan Marie Schaefer, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She was attired in a floor-length frock of pink with a daisy motif in the fabric. She carried a one-sided basket of white, pink, aqua, yellow and green daisies.

William T. Schaefer, a nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The groom chose James J. Logan as best man, with John J. Boswell, brother of the groom, and William G. Schaefer, the bride's brother, as groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Dennis Thebeau, James Koester, Richard Schall and Steve Sinclair.

Mrs. Schaefer chose for her daughter's wedding a green linen three-piece suit, with white accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Boswell, selected a two-piece aqua suit and white accessories. Both wore white daisy corsages.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City high school. The former Miss Schaefer attended Southern Illinois University's East St. Louis branch and is now employed by the American Red Cross in St. Louis.

Mr. Boswell's employment is with the Nestle Co. He received his discharge from the U.S. Army Signal Corps in January 1967.

Credit Union Wins 3 of 4 Softball Tilts

The Granite City Steel Credit Union fast pitch softball team won three of four games over the weekend at Wilson Park, raising its season's record to eight-and-one.

On Saturday night, the local squad won two games from Duchesne lounge of St. Louis 5-4 and 6-0. The local team then split Sunday night with Vandalia, losing the first game 10-0 and coming back to win the final 4-2.

Manager Bob Patrick commented that "we've been facing some of the best teams in this area lately and still are winning more than we lose."

Duchesne lounge, one of the leading teams in the Florissant Softball League, came to Granite City with a season record of nine-and-one.

Down by 4-0 in the third inning of the first game, Credit Union exploded for four runs with two men out to gain a tie. Harry Briggs started the rally with a triple, followed with singles by Larry Melton, and Bill Evans. Mike Sues then tripled, scoring two runs, and crossed the plate himself on a double by Harold Tanksley.

With the game in overtime, Credit Union scored in the bottom of the eighth on a leadoff single by Melton, a walk to Evans and a hit by Sues.

Wins Seven-Hitter
Don Stallhut was the winning pitcher, allowing seven hits, fanning five and walking one. In the second game, Pitcher Jerry Voloski took charge and hurled a one-hitter against the St. Louis team. He lost a chance at a no-hitter when he was tagged for a hit with two out in the final frame.

Catcher Sues drove in four runs in the second game.

Vandalia came to town with a 14-and-three record. The visitors had just handed one of the best Class A teams in the area, the Alton Braves, their first two defeats of the season. In the first game, Vandalia trounced the home team 10-0, tagging Stallhut for 10 hits. Granite City was held to three safes, including a double and single by Norm Grote.

The local squad jumped out in front in the second game in the first frame with two runs as Grote led off with a double and Melton, Evans and Larry Williams singled.

Vandalia tied it with single tallies in the second and third innings, and Credit Union went ahead again in its half of the third as Evans singled, Sues doubled and Doug Winfield sacrificed.

Credit Union added an insurance run in the fifth frame for the 4-2 win. Jerry Voloski was the winning pitcher, allowing seven hits, striking out four and walking none.

It's easy enough to see the handwriting on the wall, but few people can translate it.

Everybody has a private entrance.

The Renault 10 was built to carry four people, so it made sense for it to have 4 doors.

But that's just one of the things that make sense about the Renault 10. It gets 35 miles to the gallon, a top speed of 84 miles per hour, has 11 cubic feet of luggage space, 4-wheel disc brakes, and 4-wheel independent suspension.

Yet the price is only $1649 which is also designed to make the Renault 10 easy car to get into.

Rally By Legion Falls Short; Dupo Team Next

Bowing 6-4 to Alton in an American Legion Baseball League game Friday evening at Wilson Park, Post 113 will be hoping for better luck when it visits Dupo at 6 p.m. tomorrow and hosts Southwest Kiwanis at 6 p.m. Wednesday at Wilson Park.

The local squad's league record is now 1-6.

It never fully recovered from a four-run Alton barrage in the opening inning, when four singles and two walks did the damage.

Granite City made it 4-1 in the second as Pitcher Jim Becker tripled. Dave Evans walked and Laws hit into a run-producing double play.

The lead narrowed to 4-3 in the third as Rich Logan was hit by a pitch. Rick Fossieck Seven cars battled for the third spot, with Gene Henson, Paris, Ill., edging out John Paradise, Decatur, Ill., Jerry Blundy, Galesburg, Ill., Chuck Taylor, Springfield, Ill., Chuck Taylor, Jerry Camfield, Argenta, Ill., and Ronnie Perkins in that order.

New Trojan Football Coach Was Player on Army, College Teams

The new Madison high school football coach, Al Vonder Haar, looks as though he is ready to enter a few of the games himself, standing six feet, four inches and weighing 270 pounds.

However, he instead will utilize his knowledge of the sport gained as a college player at South Dakota, St. Louis Baptist Junior College and Northeast Missouri State at Kirksville.

Employed here Thursday night, the St. Louis native also played Army football and basketball while stationed in Germany. A former truck driver, he was instrumental in forming a rugby team, the St. Louis Bombers, and has been their informal coach during a seven-year span that brought 88 wins, seven losses and two ties.

His coaching also has included experience in Germany and assistance to the Roosevelt (St. Louis) high school grid coach. He is 33 years old.

Work Begun on New Mitchell Playground

A new Mitchell area playground and ball diamond to be created at the intersection of Maryville road and Old Alton road moved nearer reality Saturday with operation of bulldozers to knock down some of the trees and level the land.

Stanley Lucas Jr., project chairman, reported.

Access to the property was arranged by the East Side Levee & Sanitary District, and labor was donated. It is hoped to have playing fields in use before the summer is over, Lucas said.

Council, Plant Confer on Street, Drainage Property

No decision regarding a proposed property exchange with Granite City Steel Co. was made by Granite City aldermen during a conference between council members and Granite City Steel representatives Thursday evening at the company's office building.

The council meets tonight at 9 o'clock.

The discussion, not held at the city hall due to an air conditioner failure, was arranged by a council sewer committee.

Vacating of August street along industrial sites between East 23rd street and Edwardsville road is proposed in exchange for a larger amount of land for the right-of-way for a city drainage ditch along East 23rd street and Nameoki road.

It was learned that the firm is not actively pushing the exchange but regards it as fair due to the high value of the potential plant sites which are to be permanently reduced in size by the sewer project.

A spokesman said the plant is willing to waive whatever convenience August street may have for its staff and customers.

Other than access to the city's Blast Furnace Division, August street connects with the south over a distance of eight-tenths of a mile that increases to 1.1 mile if Monroe and 21st streets are used instead, it was noted.

Using August and then going north on Edwardsville road travel one mile compared to only six-tenths of a mile if they use East 23rd and Nameoki road, the spokesman added.

1st Assembly Edges Methodist 4-2 in Church Loop Battle

First Assembly of God defeated Free Methodist 4-2 in overtime in a Church Loop Pitch Blue division softball game Friday night at Wilson Park, while Emmanuel Baptist defeated First Church of God 25-12.

Two runs crossed the plate in the top of the eighth inning to give First Assembly the victory. With one out, Mike Velez scored on a triple by Joe Baker, who came around himself on a single by Larry Petersen.

Free Methodist scored twice in the sixth inning on two singles around a double by Lonnie Fenton. Methodist was outstuffed to the Roosevelt (St. Louis) high school grid coach. He is 33 years old.

1038 Large Jury Cases Pend in Circuit Court

A total of 1038 jury cases involving more than $10,000 were pending in Madison county circuit court at the end of May, a decrease of eight, according to Willard Portell, clerk of the circuit court.

Thirty-nine trials were begun or reinstated during the month and 41 were terminated. Twenty non-jury cases were heard with 17 completed, leaving 61 pending.

Of law cases of $10,000 and under, 12 jury cases were started in magistrate courts, and 20 were completed, leaving 292 still pending. Fifty-seven non-jury cases were started, and 47 were completed, leaving 638 to be heard.

Of small claims cases, 344 were started, 285 were terminated and 1400 are pending. One condemnation suit was started, three were finished, and 44 remain. In miscellaneous remedies, 11 were started, 17 were finished and 172 remain.

Sixteen chancery cases were started, 19 were completed, and 245 are pending. Fifty-nine family cases, including 15 juvenile and 45 mental, were opened, and were completed, including 20 mental cases.

The courts heard 116 divorce cases, 102 were completed and 1013 are pending. There were 42 probate cases started, with 38 cases completed. Three felony cases were started, 19 were terminated, and 31 are pending. Ordinance violation cases started total 496, with 508 terminated and 1194 pending. There were 1428 traffic cases started with 1268 completed.

Portell said there has been a substantial increase in all filings this year. Law cases of more than $10,000 have dropped, however, as the limit on magistrate jurisdiction was raised from $5000 to $10,000.

He said the courts will have a more difficult time trying criminal and law jury cases over $10,000 as the judge's staff has been reduced by the death of Judge Austin Lewis.

Divorce cases will drop considerably this summer as there will be a docketfall soon on all cases filed before Jan. 1, Portell said.

Probate cases take nine months to complete and the department is in good shape, he said, adding that felony cases are up to date and in good order.

Judge Harold R. Clark will become chief judge on July 1, for a term of one year, succeeding Judge James O. Monroe.

Firearms Owners Must Be Licensed by July 1

Illinois residents who own or are in possession of firearms or ammunition must have a valid firearm owners identification card by July 1 under terms of a new state law.

The cards are issued by the State Department of Public Safety and registration forms are available from police stations and stores.

They are to be mailed to the state safety department with the license fee of $5 and a 1/4x1 1/2-inch head-and-shoulder photograph.

An owner may possess any number of weapons under the same license.

The penalty for violations of the law shall be fines not to exceed $1000, or jail terms not to exceed one year, or both.

Under the law a firearm is defined as any device which is designed to expel a projectile or projectiles by the action of an explosion, expansion of gas or escape of gas.

Firearm ammunition is defined as any self-contained cartridge or shotgun shell designed to be used or adaptable to use in a firearm.

Excluded are any pneumatic gun, spring gun or BB gun which expels a single globular projectile not exceeding .18 inch in diameter, safety devices and ammunition or industrial devices and ammunition.

Not eligible to receive an I.D. card are persons under 21 who have been convicted of a misdemeanor other than a traffic offense or adjudged delinquent, a person under 21 who does not have the written consent of a parent or guardian, or such parent who does not have a valid card.

A person convicted of a felony within five years or a person confined to a penitentiary within the prior five years; a person addicted to narcotics; a person who has been a patient of a mental institution within the past five years; or a person who is mentally retarded.

The licenses are good for five years.

Optimists Hear Panel Talk On New State Gun Law

Proposed firearms regulations; the new Illinois law governing registration of owners of weapons; and recent Supreme Court decisions on law enforcement were topics discussed by a three-man panel at the Granite City Optimist Club's luncheon meeting Thursday.

Twenty-three Optimists and four guests, John Kozyak, Barry Loma, Malcolm Thompson and Army Sgt. Donald Harris were present. Fred Cunningham, president-elect, was in charge of the business session and offered the greetings.

Program chairman, Wilbert Triebes, introduced the panelists—Assistant Police Chief George Teller, Bar President Ernest A. Karandjef and Attorney Leo Konzen. Each man spoke briefly and later answered questions from club members.

He pointed out that among 17,000 persons reported killed by guns in 1967, 10,000 were suicides. A form of mass hysteria exists at the present time regarding gun legislation, created by recent events, that causes people to overlook laws already on the books, which would be effective if more stringently enforced, Karandjef said.

Defending recent Supreme Court decisions on prosecution of criminals, Konzen said the ruling by which suspects are advised of their right to remain silent and to be represented by counsel is beneficial to all.

He commented that the professional hoodlum and criminal were well aware of this law before publicity gave it greater prominence. Konzen said Illinois remedy is improved performance of police departments, especially through added training in mass arrests.

In the matter of jury selection, questioning of prospective jurors by attorneys about the individual's views on capital punishment must be more carefully worded, he stated. All recent Supreme Court rulings are in the best interest of the individual to protect the rights of any individual, the attorney said.

He conceded, however, results from these decisions may make law enforcement more difficult.

Assistant Chief Teller told the Optimists that "nothing new in the law came from the Miranda and Escobedo cases." The essential element is the confession, to determine if it has been given freely and voluntarily, he noted.

Evidence in 65% of all completed cases is derived through interviews and interrogation of a suspect. Any serious limitation of this method would seriously hamper the process of law and result in a greater backlog of cases than at present, the police officer said.

Gun legislation will not take a weapon from a person with criminal intent, he said, pointing out there is no law against anyone carrying an unlicensed weapon. Teller explained the new Illinois gun law as registration of the owner, not the weapon, emphasizing the registration card is not a license authorizing the owner to carry a gun.

The assistant police chief said the law published restriction connected with the new law concerns the inability of gun owners to purchase ammunition unless in possession of a registration card. In response to a question, Teller replied no Illinois statute prohibits one from making his own ammunition, however, the materials needed for this task are probably restricted under a federal law.

Cunningham announced the regular luncheon meeting this week has been cancelled, due to the Gene Stenberg dinner on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Frieda Duke, 64, Dies; Former Resident

Mrs. Frieda M. Duke, 64, Jonesboro, Ill., a former long-time resident of Granite City, died at 10:55 p.m. Friday at St. Francis Hospital, Cape Girardeau, Mo. She had been ill with cancer for nearly two years and was admitted to the hospital for surgery two weeks ago. She attended local schools and remained here as a resident until moving to Jonesboro seven years ago to make her home with a daughter.

Mrs. Duke was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church and a former member of the St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary. Her husband, Dewey Duke, died in December 1945.

Surviving are one son, Richard F. Duke of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; two daughters, Mrs. Ronald (Shirley) Kane, with whom Mrs. Duke resided in Jonesboro, and Mrs. Robert (Doris) Humphrey of Kirkwood, Mo.; one brother, Walter Christiansen of Granite City; three sisters, Mrs. Clayton (Cornelia) Poo, Mrs. Erna Burch and Mrs. Ernest (Ann) McDonald, all of Granite City; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Four of the youth salesmen sold 199 boxes each, enough to send them to the camp, while 32 youths earned themselves memberships in one of the following categories: 513 Teen Town membership, $11 youth full-year membership or $7 summer membership. GC Police Stay with $150 Pay Hike Demand

Granite City police, members of State, County & Municipal Employees Local 1347, advised the Press-Record Friday they still are seeking a $150-per-month increase. A patrolman presently is paid $587 a month. The union officers said the large increase would be in line with recent increases given state police and police in other municipalities. Richard D. Bell, secretary of the union, stated Friday that the union's negotiating team has not made any contract agreement.

It was reported during last week's council session that the police officers were in agreement with a proposal made by firemen for a two-year contract with a $50-a-month increase each year. Bell said the union also is seeking added benefits with increased longevity, compensatory time for call-outs, overtime and court time and increased vacation time.

Only appraisal requests on proposed dwellings declined from April to May.

May's $464 VA housing starts were up 1.9 per cent from April's total of 5362. The 20,234 appraisal requests last month on existing dwellings were 1665, or 8.9 per cent, higher than in April. Home loan guaranty applications in May totaled 21,474, up 2.4 per cent from April's 20,965 figure.

Running behind the previous month were the appraisal requests on proposed dwellings. In May these numbered 10,657, down 11.9 per cent from April's total of 12,443.

101st Airborne Turning Tables on 'Charlie'

Paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division's "A" Company, 1st Battalion, 506th Infantry, have recently acquired the knack of turning the tables on "Charlie" by beating him at his own game. One of the Viet Cong's favorite tricks, the ambush, has worked so well for the "Currahee" company that more than 40 enemy were killed in two decisive and blazing ambushes recently.

Sp4 Merl McDaniels Jr. of Granite City is a member of "A" Company and participated in these actions.

In its first major ambush, the company's 3rd platoon caught a crack North Vietnamese company by surprise. A sharp and bitter fire fight lasted throughout the night. As daylight brightened the paratroopers counted 24 enemy dead and for several days the Airborne

Infantrymen combed the area and uncovered 16 additional enemy soldiers killed in the encounter.

Two weeks later, the 2nd platoon used the same tactic on 18 enemy soldiers. The enemy again walked into a Claymore mine trap. Immediately after the mines had been detonated, the platoon's machine guns cut down the NVA in a deadly cross fire.

A search made of the enemy dead produced documents indicating the dead were members of a Main Force Viet Cong unit. The body of a VC commander bearing documents of a planned attack was also discovered.

McDaniels' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merl McDaniels Sr., reside at 2833 Circle drive and his wife, Mrs. Linda Sue McDaniels lives at 2715 Nameoki drive.

Sequicentennial Event

Foray on Fort Kaskaskia To be Recreated July 4

A daring foray of 170 men led by Col. George Rogers Clark and resulting in the capture of the Illinois territory from the British will be recreated on its 190th anniversary when a band of buckskin clad enthusiasts will march from Fort Massac State Park at Metropolis, Ill., to Fort Kaskaskia, scene of Clark's victory.

The modern frontiersmen are members of the National Muzzle Loaders Rifle Association who plan to leave Fort Massac on June 29 and complete the 100-mile trek to coincide with a spectacular Independence Day celebration at the Kaskaskia site, which is a major observance of the Illinois Sequicentennial year. The town, long since washed away by the Mississippi, was the state's first capital.

Representatives from at least five states will be among the 20 marchers. They have been organized by Warren Boughton of Harvey, Ill. Their route will take them through the Shawnee National Forest on backwoods roads through Vienna, Cobden and Murphysboro. They will camp overnight along the route and prepare meals over campfires.

Col. Clark led his frontiersmen overland instead of paddling down the Ohio and up the Mississippi rivers to give his daring expedition an element of surprise. His scheme worked and his band surprised the British defenders, accepting their surrender without firing a shot on July 4, 1778.

Patrick Henry, then governor of Virginia, had ordered Clark's attack. The surrendered Illinois territory was taken over by the commonwealth until 1784 when Virginia ceded her western lands to the federal government and the Illinois territory came under the Stars and Stripes.

"Illinois Under Five Flags," a tableau recalling the state's history under the banners of France, England, Virginia, the State of Illinois and the United States will be presented at Fort Kaskaskia State Park at 2 p.m. July 4.

Sequicentennial admirers of Col. Clark will be there.

Smith is Governor, But Only Few Hours

State Rep. Ralph T. Smith, (R-Alton), became governor of Illinois Saturday—but only for a few hours.

A series of circumstances placed Rep. Smith in the position of governor while Gov. Samuel Shapiro was temporarily out of the state.

The position of lieutenant governor, next in line to serve as governor, in young state Shapiro succeeded former Gov. Otto Kerner. President of the United States W. H. Harrison, next in the succession line, also was out of the state.

ice resident 24 years, or four years below the national norm. The alderman said the study also reveals a dwindling proportion of residents in the 19-34 age group, with more than 30% of the people in this age level not gainfully employed.

He commented that one problem in retaining youthful and productive people in the community is a lack of adequate housing, noting that the study shows 97.9% of Venice housing is in a dilapidated condition.

Alderman Lloyd Patterson, who also attended the planning meeting, said the survey showed that many non-residents are brought in to fill vacancies in skilled jobs available in industries located in Madison and Venice.

Two-City Action Proposed
Alderman Hampton urged a closer study of the feasibility of an urban renewal program, which he said should be undertaken in conjunction with the city of Madison because neither municipality is large enough to qualify for a separate renewal project.

Mayor Lee said one of the biggest problems involved in an urban renewal program is relocation of people dispossessed during the project. He commented that "while houses and businesses are being torn down, these people must have a place to live."

"All programs of this type are completed in a single period of time and cannot be accomplished in one area during one six-month period and in another area at a later date. If the people want it, it can be done," the mayor said.

Hampton said younger persons leaving the community create a problem for the city in loss of taxes. He said the number of small businesses located in one section of Venice, which totaled 23 a few years ago, has been reduced to nine.

SIU-SW Family

$3,718,717 total cost of the SIU family housing is $76,818 below the amount estimated by the McKee-Berger-Manuseto engineering firm.

In reference to the $139,800,000 capital appropriation budget approved by the SIU board for the next biennium, Dr. Morris said the total includes $87,891,999 for the Carbondale campus, $41,402,000 for SIU-SW and $10,887,000 for a Vocational-Technical Institute near Carbondale.

Of the total funds sought, $44,565,000 would be from state general revenue funds, $84,065,000 from the Illinois Building Authority and $11,230,000 from such non-state funds as U. S. Office of Education grants.

The appropriations request will be submitted to the Illinois Board of Higher Education, which, after analyzing the state universities' budget requests and then makes its recommendations to the state legislature. In line with the Higher Education Board policy, the campus projects sought in the appropriation are listed by priority, Dr. Morris explained.

Topping the priority list at the Carbondale campus is a center for Advanced Study of the Physical Sciences, a building group estimated at $13,405,000. Highest rated construction at the Southwestern campus is a Fine Arts Classroom and Office building complex, at $8,087,000.

Dr. Morris said the first item at the Vocational-Technical Institute is a power plant building and equipment, $798,000, followed by a Learning Resources Center and Library at $4,705,000.

Proposed SIU-SW Projects
Other priority buildings at the Southwestern campus would be a classroom and office building for the Business Division, $9,112,000; a classroom and office building for the Education Division, $7,512,000; site development, $2,381,000; and extension and completion of campus utilities, $1,076,000.

High priority items for the Carbondale campus, in order, are: a Learning Resources Center and Library Complex, $10,487,000; a Fine Arts Complex and renovation of Allyn Building, $8,145,000; general classroom and faculty office group, $7,518,000; and a services facilities group that would include new shop, garage and office space for the physical plant, plus other service agencies, $5,739,000.

The list of 16 Carbondale campus projects also includes a $3,200,000 Health Education complex also is included for VTI development.
Dr. Morris commented that changes in such categories as buildings or priority sequence changes in enrollment, may be affected by enrollment,

Youths Employed in Venice Recreation, Street Work

Venice youngsters are enjoying a summer recreation program which simultaneously is providing employment to teenage residents — mostly high school age girls who find it difficult to locate work in the summer months.

Also, college-bound youths are working with the city's street maintenance department. Details of the youth employment program were reported Friday evening at a Venice city council meeting by Mayor John E. Lee and Alderman Charles D. Hampton.

Mayor Lee said that five or six youths so far have been hired by the city to work at various odd jobs under the supervision of the street department and additional youths are expected to be employed.

First consideration in hiring was given to college students planning to return to school this fall and high school graduates who will start their freshman year at college in September.

Began Recreation This Week
Alderman Hampton reported that ten girls and a supervisor have been hired to direct a summer recreation program which will go into full swing this week.

Noting that a segment of a master plan study, currently being made for the city by the Southwestern Planning Commission shows that 37% of Venice's population is 14 years of age and under, the alderman commented that although some form of recreation does exist, not nearly enough is available for the number of youngsters.

He said the ten-week program is being co-sponsored by the city of Venice and the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission. Recreation will include instruction in arts and crafts and supervised games.

A portable swimming pool and two wading pools are to be installed for the children, he added.

Street Improvements
The council adopted a resolution relating to street repairs and improvements for portions of Weaver, College, Jackson, Madison and Market streets and Circle drive, costing $2000 from motor fuel tax funds. It will be submitted for final approval to the Illinois Department of Public Works.

A contract for road maintenance materials, awarded to Midwest Black Top Co., included 880 gallons of liquid asphalt at 17.64 cents a gallon, and 358 tons of seal aggregate, at $5.98 a ton. The Midwest firm was lone bidder for the contract, which was let with state highway approval.

Venice Police Chief John Essington reported to the council that full repair work will be made by July 1 for damages amounting to $383, to a Venice patrol car which was struck by an auto driven by a youthful driver.

The police report for May showed 89 arrests and receipts totaling $1411.

Payment in Lieu of Taxes
A total of $6930 was paid June 18 to the Madison county treasurer, in lieu of 1967 taxes, by the Madison County Housing Authority, Mayor Lee announced. The amount included $708, Lee Wright Homes, $1749, Venice Homes; and $1176, Viola Jones Homes. The city will receive about 25% of the total with the rest going to other Venice area taxing bodies.

Payment of $1521 was approved for a New York engineering firm, Hardesty & Hanover, for services connected with a repair and improvement survey on the McKinley Bridge.

Delivery of a new fire truck is expected within the next two weeks, Mayor Lee reported.

Friday night's council meeting was highlighted by presentation to the city of an Illinois Sesquicentennial flag by members of the Venice Women's club.

In a brief talk, Mrs. Madonna Groshong club president, paid tribute to youth of the community, noting worthwhile achievements in the professions, athletics and academic honors.

Accompanying Mrs. Groshong to the meeting were Mrs. Creola Warnoff, Mrs. Elsie Canner, Mrs. Ruth Canner, Mrs. Alline Patterson, Mrs. Alice Mitchell and Mrs. Melba Elgan.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION:

"If a dictator wished to brainwash his people to lawlessness and violence he would install a TV set in every home in the land and then feature programs saturated with violence, shooting and murder every day of the year. Isn't this the kind of mental conditioning each American family receives from commercial television? Is it any wonder that our society is sick with violence?"

"A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME..."

Few of us are unattracted by the beauty of a rose. ■ Roses and carnations have found in it a gold mine of inspiration. Yes, a rose is a lovely thing that only Providence could have created for the enjoyment of mankind. ■ And yet the rose, which at its beauty has something in common with, say, a steel plant. ■ Neither could exist without water. ■ Without water the rose would die. And the world would be that much less beautiful. ■ So, too, without water, would the steel plant. And we would be bereft of many useful and beautiful products made of steel. ■ The rose... the steel plant... a life saver. ■ Without water and water service there would be nothing.

Illinois in 1818--Early Settlers Built Homes For New Neighbors, Enjoyed An Active Social Life

(From the Files of the Granite City Press-Record)

The early pioneers of Illinois were as sociable and friendly as southerners, having migrated to Illinois from Kentucky and Tennessee.

"When a newcomer arrived in the country," wrote a man who came to Illinois in 1817, "the settlers without distinction or ceremony went at once to pay him a visit.

"The warmest sentiments of friendship were interchanged, the old settlers assuring their new neighbor that everything they possessed in the way of tools, teams, wagons, provisions and their own personal services were entirely at his command.

"Hence, in a few days, all hands--as the phrase then was--turned out and built the newcomer a home, cut and split his rails, hauled them out, put them up in a fence around the land he wished to cultivate, and then broke up his land to be ready for the seed.

"Thus, in the space of a few days, the newcomer was in comfortable conditions and well acquainted with the best terms of friendship with the whole neighborhood.

"And to conclude these friendly attentions to the newcomers, a joyous and convivial occasion was held, with the younger portion of the company tripping the light fantastic over some rough puncheon floor."

While there was an abundance of social spirit in the community, there were few varieties of diversion.

In the villages, a favorite form of entertainment was celebration of anniversaries, participated in by the people of the surrounding country.

Thus, Fourth of July was marked at Kaskaskia by a dinner to which all the people were invited. This was followed by an oration by one of the local lawyers.

At Edwardsville, the day was ushered in by the discharge of artillery while the American flag waved triumphantly from the top of a liberty pole. At noon, a procession formed and marched through the main streets.

After the Declaration of Independence had been read on the public square, dinner was served, followed by appropriate toasts.

The Masonic lodge at Kaskaskia was accustomed to celebrate the anniversaries of St. John the Baptist in June and St. John the Evangelist in December, usually with a dinner and an oration. The annual inspection and review of militia, levee and court sessions of the county seats also furnished occasions for amusement of various sorts.

Horse racing, cock-fighting and gambling were favorite diversions, although attempts were made to suppress them by laws and ordinances.

Everybody played cards, and to play for money was both fashionable and profitable. Another and somewhat more refined form of recreation was the singing school.

There was a Singing Society in Edwardsville in 1819, the prospective members being called to meet at the courthouse for the purpose of organizing a singing school for the coming winter. Three dozen of the "most choice selection of music books" had been received from Boston.

Renewal Action By Alderman Board Has Contributed to Resurgence By St. Louis

Uncle Sam once feared most federal tax aid to those areas willing and able to say that they were in the midst of a depression or had suffered some kind of devastating economic disaster.

This approach still holds true in many cases, but there are now ample provisions under which the authority and some funds could be obtained to help the Granite City central business district. Increasingly, the U. S. is realizing its dominance over American pure strings and the accompanying responsibility to recognize and fight mushrooming urban problems.

An example is provided by the current effort by Downtown St. Louis, Inc., to have the entire downtown district there declared an urban renewal area.

The resurgence of the past several years is well known. Many tall buildings are being erected and the heart of St. Louis is humming with people and activity. This cannot help but offset some of the problems in immediately adjacent areas, but further action is being proposed under "economic blight" laws.

The new plan calls for "all of the St. Louis central business district from the Mississippi River to 12th Blvd., between Market street and Delmar Blvd. (to) be declared blighted and subject to renewal under the terms of the Missouri Urban Redevelopment Corporations Law except for those areas which already have been made subject to provisions of the law by previous aldermanic action."

We do not presume to judge the merit or lack of merit of what is under consideration, but it clearly makes the point that development authority is being applied to business sections which are not on the brink of failure.

The Granite City downtown area has many fine points, as has the St. Louis central district. But there are problems here -- problems for which a remedy is overdue.

The phrase that catches our eye in the St. Louis proposal is "economic blight" districts. Feuding, fussing and fighting sometimes stimulate improvements in government, but the present Granite City municipal dispute seems to be having an opposite effect, judging by the

Illinois Gun Owners Must Have Identification Card By July 1

Guns and their control are receiving intense study and discussion following the assassinations this spring of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Senator Robert F. Kennedy. Illinois legislators acted in this field in the 1967 session, with some of the provisions going into effect July 1, 1968. Reprinted below is a Tri-City-Illinois State Bar Association report originally presented on this page five months ago.

You can buy a gun today, but you cannot take possession of it for 72 hours.

Under the laws of Illinois' new gun laws, the seller must withhold delivery for the 72-hour waiting period.

The law is designed to discourage the impulse purchase--and use--of guns.

In this way, the lawmakers hope to prevent or reduce crimes of passion and those resulting from mental depression. Categories of persons who may not purchase guns under any circumstances include the following:

1. No one under 18 may purchase a pistol.
2. Young people under 21, if they are convicted for any misdemeanor other than a traffic offense, or are adjudged delinquent.
3. Narcotic addicts.
4. Anyone convicted of a felony under the laws of Illinois, or of any state within the previous five years, or confined to a penitentiary within the same period.

Also, no applicant under 21 years of age will be issued a permit except with the written consent of a parent or guardian who holds a valid Firearm Owner's ID card.

Anyone who buys or carries lack of action to bring about a significant change in downtown trends.

The public does not indefinitely sit still where progress grinds to a halt. Those who do opt to lead must do so, or turn the task over to someone who is willing to act.

Link Personal Property Tax Payment to State Auto Licenses

The Illinois General Assembly is right in reviving the bill to require proof of personal property tax payment before auto license plates are issued.

Such legislation passed both the House and Senate in 1967 but time ran out with it still in a conference committee seeking to resolve differences in the two versions.

Chicago area administrative departures from the personal property tax law have been a complicating factor, but the existence of a wheel tax there also has not been allowed to block the proposed law; many other communities have both a municipal auto tax and personal taxes.

The reason action is needed is that too many Illinois residents who do not owe real estate taxes manage to ignore or avoid receiving personal property tax bills by moving out of state or two. These often are families which would all effort to help bear part of the tax burden, but seek to evade the responsibility and often are successful.

By linking the tax to auto licensing, the state could make sure that revenue is collected on motor vehicles, furniture and other categories of personal property. This would result in greater sharing of local and county government costs--a break for the vast majority of people.

State Water Resources Planning Should Include Horseshoe Lake

Efforts to pass a $1 billion air and water resources bill in November have been launched, with strong emphasis placed on the population growth in Illinois and the importance of providing "boating, camping, swimming and fishing water within easy driving range."

Prospects for passage of such a huge spending program cannot be considered especially bright, but undoubtedly will be improved if the General Assembly meets in Springfield beginning July 15 revises it to meet technical and constitutional objections.

Proposed changes include legislative rather than executive branch authority to set priorities; Democrats may join Republicans in providing the needed two-thirds support next month, since they cannot be certain that they will retain the governor's office this fall. Another key provision is the amendment eliminating rigid divisions of the $1 billion between air and recreation projects.

We suspect that Madison-St. Clair counties voters will be guided to a great extent by the amount of recognition given to the Horseshoe Lake state park proposal in the water resources planning.

Richard Ogilvie, Republican nominee for governor, is on record as favoring prompt development of the local lake as a recreation area and wildlife refuge.

We will be looking to report similar news regarding Gov. Samuel Shapiro, if it is forthcoming, together with any new shift in attitude by the zig-zagging Illinois Conservation Department.

Avalanche of Mail on Gun Laws

By U. S. SENATOR CHARLES H. PERCY of Illinois

A review of my mail in the last week shows that 95% of it was on the topic of gun legislation.

Never before has a single issue ever commanded such a high proportion of the mail I receive.

My mail was three times heavier than that received the previous week.

Monday, June 17, mail reached an estimated 10,000 pieces--the largest single day since I began serving in the Senate. Almost all of it was on gun legislation.

Of the mail dealing with gun legislation, 95% of it was from writers favoring strict gun controls and only 5% of the writers oppose controls.

Here are my remarks on the floor of the Senate May 15 in support of Senator Edward M. Kennedy's amendment favoring controls for long guns:

"Mr. PERCY. Mr. President, I would like to indicate my support for the amendment of the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Kennedy). If that amendment is passed, it is not rejected, it will indicate my support for the amendment of the Senator from New York (Mr. Javits)."

"I also want to express my appreciation to the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. Dodd) for his leadership and perseverance in this difficult legislation."

"Mr. President, I speak from the standpoint of one who has lived in the business world, and any firearm or ammunition without having a registration card will be subject to a fine of up to $100, imprisonment for up to one year, or both."

"The 72-hour waiting period applies to the sale of guns by private owners."

Even an antique gun, capable of being fired or of being made into a gun within the terms of this waiting period and, after July 1, may not be transferred to a person who does not have a Firearm Owner's ID card.

Cooperation Between Government Units Helps But Modernization, Citizen Interest Are Essential

(University of Illinois Student Reporting Project)

"I personally have no hope for Illinois. It is not, in my opinion, an enlightened state," Mark E. Keane, once an Illinois city manager, now the director of the International City Managers Association, continued, "Illinois is a very conservative state, and would like to keep their local government intact."

Illinois leads the nation with 645 separate units of local government, including counties, municipalities, townships, special districts and school districts.

In a time when consolidation means greater efficiency and economy, the state's record is not to be admired.

But Illinois need not be a hopeless case. Many efforts are being undertaken to reform its outdated government structures so that they can handle modern problems better.

Efforts have been established on county, state and federal levels to promote and aid these efforts. Included are the Cook County Council of Governments (COG), the Northeast Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC), the Local Government Commission, the Department of Intergovernmental Relations and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

COG, concerned with problems affecting the county's cities and towns, draws together representatives of municipalities, townships, school districts and special districts to attempt to solve specific problems extending beyond individual boundaries on the local level.

Most urgent are the problems of land use, flood control, water supply, refuse disposal, air and water pollution, noise abatement and transportation.

COG provides all units within the county with the opportunity to cooperate in solving these mutual problems, hopefully eliminating bureaucratic bumbling and back-passing in the process.

NIPC, set up by the state to study the problems of urban development, comprises the six-county region of Cook, Will, DuPage, Kane, McHenry and Lake counties.

Involved in long-range planning for the regional area, NIPC has endorsed the "finger" or "corridor" plan which would provide for development of the metropolitan area along transportation lines.

According to Robert G. Decher, NIPC deputy director, NIPC, the group has only the power to plan and to recommend, but it is up to the individual communities to either accept or reject NIPC's recommendations.

Consequently, NIPC's extensive planning can only prove useful if governmental units choose to cooperate.

The Local Government Commission was set up in September 1967 by the Illinois General Assembly to conduct a 14-month study of intergovernmental relations.

"We know how to virtually eliminate pollution," said William C. Ackermann, chief of the Illinois State Water Survey. "Our technology is sufficient to solve present problems. But there is a considerable gap between what we know how to do and what we have applied. The bottleneck now is in bricks and matter."

According to Ackermann, the proposed $1 billion bond issue for water and air resources can eliminate that bottleneck by providing the funds to implement the Illinois Water Plan, a product of more than 75 years of research.

Ackermann makes it clear that none of the money from the bond issue is earmarked for research. "The bond issue is an action program," he says, "it is for building things like sewage plants and reservoirs, and is backed up by our research."

The State Water Survey, an agency of the State Department of Registration and Education, is being supported by a continuing state appropriation. Its primary responsibility is the scientific study of our water resources.

"In any one time, there are 50 to 60 research projects going on, dealing with evaluation of water quality and the state of Illinois' water resources."

"We're interested in clean water and air," Ackermann says. "We look into future problems here and try to solve them."

Research, however, can only uncover problems and propose solutions, to them. It takes in Illinois and to suggest proper legislation.

"I introduced the bill because of the proliferation of governments in Illinois," said William A. Redmond (D, Bensenville), co-chairman of the commission. "There are 645 governments in Illinois, more than any other state. But there are no studies available to tell if this is good or bad."

The commission was created to fill the gap of knowledge about relationships among the many units of government in the state and to lead to the improvement of those relationships.

The federal government, with the funds and status to attract experts in management and planning, can aid local government reform greatly.

The Department of Intergovernmental Relations was established during the Kennedy Administration to study community and cooperation among governments.

Its study, "Unshackling Local Government," criticizes the restrictions imposed on local governments by state constitutions as well as the limitations on local taxing power.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is part of the federal government's "thinking" about local government, according to Leonard Elenowicz, a HUD administrator.

Formed of existing agencies created over the years to meet housing and urban needs, HUD has recently come up with a Model Cities program to attempt to solve housing and urban problems on the local level.

Erwin France, commissioner of the Chicago program, said, "It's important thing about the funds is that they are not specifically earmarked, although individual cities' greater freedom in planning."

This should help overcome the reluctance of many cities to apply for federal funds because of the "strings" attached to them. As well planned and executed as all these commissions and agencies could be, they are little accomplished in the reform of local government structures and services without local support.

This series of articles has pointed out many of the weaknesses of local government. Concentrating on Illinois, with its many archaic systems, the series has shown that the state is not modernized.

But people are slow to change their institutions. They turn on the tap and expect water to come out," Redmond said. "If it doesn't, then they wait for a reform."

As long as government works, they are not interested in improving it."

It is this apathy for the people of Illinois to realize that their water only drips when they turn on the tap. Then they will demand and work to achieve a better local government they deserve.

Long Research on Water Resources

(Illinois Committee for Pure Air and Water)

"We know how to virtually eliminate pollution," said William C. Ackermann, chief of the Illinois State Water Survey. "Our technology is sufficient to solve present problems. But there is a considerable gap between what we know how to do and what we have applied. The bottleneck now is in bricks and matter."

According to Ackermann, the proposed $1 billion bond issue for water and air resources can eliminate that bottleneck by providing the funds to implement the Illinois Water Plan, a product of more than 75 years of research.

Ackermann makes it clear that none of the money from the bond issue is earmarked for research. "The bond issue is an action program," he says, "it is for building things like sewage plants and reservoirs, and is backed up by our research."

The State Water Survey, an agency of the State Department of Registration and Education, is being supported by a continuing state appropriation. Its primary responsibility is the scientific study of our water resources.

"In any one time, there are 50 to 60 research projects going on, dealing with evaluation of water quality and the state of Illinois' water resources."

"We're interested in clean water and air," Ackermann says. "We look into future problems here and try to solve them."

Research, however, can only uncover problems and propose solutions, to them. It takes money to turn research into action.

Ackermann cites a five-year study of potential reservoir sites in Illinois as an example of the best possible use of research that can become reality if the bond issue passes in November.

This study shows where and how over 800 reservoirs can be built in Illinois for water storage and recreation.

The study involved a long investigation of stream flow and sediment load and has arrived at the best possible locations for reservoirs. All of this information will be available for application with passage of the bond issue.

According to Ackermann, "Illinois is at the bottom of the water pole when it comes to areas for water related recreation."

Another Water Survey study has analyzed the features of open rivers and has found that they hold a great potential for recreation in Illinois.

"We have thousands of miles of streams in Illinois," Ackermann says. "If water quality is improved, greater use will be made of them."

Improving the quality of rivers and streams is regarded as an important objective of the state's Plan. At present, many streams in Illinois are polluted to varying degrees.

One source comes from a variety of sources, including communities and businesses. Ackermann adds, "We are now finding that pollution also comes from farms; pesticides and fertilizers are washed into streams along with the tremendous amount of untreated animal wastes which accumulate in concentrated animal feed lots."

Refrigerate Perishable Fresh Vegetables

Perishable fresh vegetables, such as spinach, lettuce, broccoli, green onions, asparagus and Brussels sprouts, keep best at home when refrigerated, preferably in the hydrator. Because of its design, this section permits a little circulation of air but retains the moisture in vegetables well.

Retaining the moisture in vegetables helps them keep their vitamin A and ascorbic acid (vitamin C) as well as their crispness and flavor.

After five days at standard refrigerator temperature (about 40 degrees F.), leafy, dark-green vegetables and broccoli lose about half of their original ascorbic acid. Although the loss sounds large, deep green, leafy vegetables have such a high initial value of ascorbic acid that they are still good sources after this substantial loss. They can be expected to provide more ascorbic acid than freshly harvested snap beans, and perhaps more than fresh tomatoes.

Green peas hold their nutrients best if left in the pod until ready to use. If you shell them, put them into plastic bags before refrigerating.

Cabbage is a more stable source of ascorbic acid than most other leafy vegetables. If kept in cold storage at temperatures below 40 degrees F., it retains three-fourths or more of its ascorbic acid for as long as two months.

Among other vegetables that retain ascorbic acid well are peppers, snap beans, lima beans and tomatoes. Tomatoes bought or picked before they turn red keep their nutrients best if they are ripened out of the sun at room temperature. Do not ripen tomatoes on a hot window sill or in the refrigerator.

Marriages decreased this year with 185 last month compared to 196 in May 1967.

Limit Freezer Loads
Take it easy when you start preparing foods for freezing. Don't prepare too many at a time. If you overload your freezer, the temperature will rise too much and the foods will freeze too slowly. They will then lose quality or may even spoil. Freezing should be completed in 24 hours. It is usually best to limit the freezing load to one-fifth or, at most, one-tenth of total freezer capacity. Packages freeze fastest when they touch a refrigerated surface directly. So check the manufacturer's directions to find out what is the proper load for your freezer and where it should be placed.

If you pack the freezer too full, the center packages may not freeze fast enough. So leave a little space between packages if possible.

Marble Needs Care
Marble may lose some of its luster just through everyday use. But you can keep it attractive by cleaning it regularly.

Caring for marble is neither difficult nor time consuming, says K. Virginia Seidel, University of Illinois Extension home furnishings specialist. Wash the marble regularly with a cloth and lukewarm water. Two or three times a year use a mild detergent to remove any soil that has become embedded in the surface.

Since marble is porous, it absorbs stains readily. Fruit juices and carbonated beverages may etch the surface, while damp beverage glasses may leave rings.

Protect marble surfaces with pads or coasters. Wipe up all spills immediately, sponge the surface with lukewarm water and then wipe it dry.

Occasionally marble will become scratched. Fine scratches may be removed by sanding the surface lightly and repolishing with putty powder applied with a damp cloth.

Charge 3 in Gas Theft Scheme

Three men, one of them from Granite City, were free on cash bonds of $2500 each today following their arrest early Saturday morning when arraigned on the alleged theft of gasoline from the Shell Oil Co. refinery at Roxana. Authorities said as much as $100,000 worth of gasoline may have been taken over an 18 months period.

Sheriff's deputies identified the defendants as Herman Wilson, 37, of Granite City; James L. Riley, 36, of Wood River, both employees of Shell Oil Co., and William L. Walters, 46, a truck driver of Jacksonville, Ill.

Deputies said the trio was charged with theft over $150 and were released on bond Saturday morning when arraigned before Magistrate Joseph Keller in Edwardsville. The men were arrested by company security personnel at the Shell refinery.

Authorities said the thefts were made possible by disguising gasoline meters at Shell which registered gallons placed in trucks. As many as five or six drivers from trucking firms may have been involved and additional arrests probably will be made, according to James R. Heil, Madison county assistant state's attorney.

An inquest is pending. A native of West Frankfort, Mo., Mr. Day moved to Granite with his parents as a young boy and attended local grade schools and the Granite City high school. He enlisted in the U. S. Navy when 17 and following his discharge, was employed about two years at A. O. Smith Corp. He left the firm to work in the West Frankfort coal mines last July.

Suit for Boy Burned In Gasoline Trash Pit

A $50,000 suit was filed last week in Madison county circuit court for Bruce E. Weymouth, a minor, by his father, Charles F. Weymouth Jr., against Donald Naeve, doing business as Don Naeve's Mobilgas service station, 2624 N. Main road, and Secony Mobil Oil Co.

The complaint alleges that Naeve maintained a trash pit behind the station, depositing discarded auto parts, containers and material containing volatile and flammable materials, and causing an attractive nuisance to children in the neighborhood on previous occasions.

It claims that on Aug. 7, 1966, the boy, 14 years old, and his brother were playing in the trash pit when gasoline spilled on Bruce, became ignited, and caused severe burns to the body. Negligence was charged.
